DETAILED ACTION

This office action follows a response filed on December 21, 2005. Applicants have amended claim 1. New claims 8 and 9 were added. Claims 1-9 are pending.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102 / 35 USC § 103

1. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

2. Claims 1, 8, and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Saito et al. (U.S. 5,430,086).

Saito et al. teaches a method of producing a rubber composition comprising mixing the following in a continuous mixing machine: 137 phr of styrene-butadiene having a bound styrene content of 45 %, 37.5 phr of extender oil, 62.5 phr of aromatic process oil, 100 phr of carbon black, and sulfur/ZnO cure package (comp. Ex. 9, Table 3).

3. Claims 2-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Saito et al. in view of Eswaran et al. (U.S. 5,711,904).

The discussion of the disclosures of the prior art from the previous paragraph of this office action is incorporated here by reference. Saito et al. shows that the composition of comparative example 9 has poor dispersibility of filler, leading to poor grip characteristic of rubber. The reference does not teach use of extrusion to mix the components, as recited in instant claims 2-9. Eswaran et al. discloses continuous mixing of elastomeric compounds using a co-rotating twin-screw extruder (see figure). The extruder has a plurality of feeding ports. The curative has a separate feeding port, and it closer to the exit port than the other feeding ports. The inventors show that the apparatus may be used for compounding a series of elastomeric compositions in which the elastomeric component is solution or emulsion polymerized styrene-butadiene copolymer rubber (col. 7, line 5). In view of the fact that the process shown in Eswaran et al. works well for compounding styrene-butadiene rubber, one of ordinary skill in the art, having both references at hand, would have found it obvious to use the compounding method of Eswaran et al. in order to improve the mixing efficiency or dispersibility of filler in the composition shown in Saito et al. The combination is especially obvious since the process described in Eswaran et al. is a general one and applicable to a variety of rubber compositions.

Response to Arguments

4. The rejection of claim 1 under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hayes et al. (U.S. 4,713,409) has been overcome by amendment. Consequently, the rejection of claims 1-7 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Eswaran et al. (U.S. 5,711,904) in view of Hayes et al. (U.S. 4,713,409) no longer applies.

Conclusion

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
